THE SEVEN AGES OF JOYCE, directed by Wayne Pearn

Thursday 13 June, 7.30pm (preview)

Friday 14 June, 7.30pm

Saturday 15 June, 6.00pm

Sunday 16 June, 1.00pm and 6.00pm

All the world's a stage... / one man in his time plays many parts / His acts being seven.
(William Shakespeare, As You Like It, Act II, Scene vii)

The Seven Ages of Joyce, a biographical play with music, ranges widely over Joyce's fiction, and adds dollops of burlesque and lashings of his humane (and satiric) comedy. It gives a full account of his life from birth to death and draws from A Portrait of the Artist as a Young Man, Ulysses, and Finnegans Wake. It will appeal to Joyce novices and aficionados alike.

BLOOMSDAY SEMINAR, 16 June only, 3.30pm

'The Obstetrician and the Psychiatrist Examine Joyce's Ulysses'

Dr James King and Dr Jo Beatson bring their respective expertise to how Joyce writes about birth, death and grieving.

BLOOMSDAY DINNER, 15 June only, 8.00pm

Join the Bloomsday community for a two-course smorgasbord, and Entertainment, at PJ O'Brien's Irish Pub, at Southbank. Drinks at bar prices.

FREE READINGS, 12 and 13 June, 1.00pm

Join the Bloomsday Players in the Gallery at fortyfivedownstairs for expert readings of Joyce, to hone your ears for Bloomsday.
